These rules have been devised and appended to the By-Laws to act as a guide in the proper and orderly conduct of meetings of the various components of the GNFA. Help has been taken from Robert's Rules of Order, originally, written by General Henry M. Robert and adopted by the British Parliament. In some form or another they have been adopted universally with some local changes. The Rules have also been adopted by the U.S. congress although some changes have been made. It is interesting to note there are differences in the Rules followed by the Senate and the House of Representatives. They are meant for democratic conduct of meetings so that all voices are heard and all members can participate in decision making process.

I. Primary Rule: Only one Principal or Main Motion at a Time;

All business is brought before a meeting by a motion or a resolution, a report of a committee or a communication. A written motion is made by a member and seconded by another member; the Chair reads the motion and asks, "Are there any remarks?" (At this point the motion becomes a question and from here on the terms "motion" and "question" are considered synonymous.) The maker of the motion speaks and gives arguments for the motion. Then it is open to discussion and every member speaks once only unless some member does not want to and gives his/her time to a member who has spoken already.

A "resolution" is similar to a motion and is treated as such. A "resolution" usually has a preamble or introduction and is much more descriptive with several paragraphs, starting with "Whereas" and ending with "Therefore, be it resolved". A resolution is presented in writing.

When a main motion is before the assembly it must be voted up or down or disposed off before going to the next business.

Any motion must conform to the By-Laws of the GNFA. The Chairperson should know the rules — when motions can be made, amended, debated, order of precedence, whether they require a majority or two-thirds vote, etc.

II. Classes Of Motions:

1. Main motion: This introduces the main subject to the assembly but is introduced only when no other motion is before the assembly. It also yields to a privileged, subsidiary or incidental motion.
2. Subsidiary Motion: Affects or changes the main motion. It can be made by any member. It needs a second and a simple majority to be accepted. A subsidiary motion supersedes the main motion for the time being and must be dealt with before action can be taken on the main motion. However, subsidiary motions must yield to Privileged and Incidental motions.
3. Privileged motion: Most urgent business not relating to the business at hand. Motion to adjourn is one of these.
4. Incidental Motion: This is a question of procedure arising out of other motions and must be considered and disposed of by a 2/3 majority of members present and voting before the main motion. One of the examples would be "I move to suspend the rules of order for the purpose of ----"

III. Order Of Business At A Meeting:

1. Call to order. Chair calls the meeting to order as the Recording Secretary informs that there is a quorum.
2. The minutes of the previous meeting(s) are discussed and approved with any modifications if necessary.
3. Old business. Any unfinished business from the previous meeting(s).
4. Officer's report, usually treasurer or any other.
5. Committee reports.
6. New Business. The Agenda is predetermined and circulated by the Recording Secretary in consultation with the Gurdwara committee. At the beginning of the meeting and before the discussion of the Minutes, the chair adds any other items and entertains additions to the agenda from the assembly. These items are placed on the agenda in the order they are presented.
7. Adjournment, by the Chairperson if the time of adjournment was predetermined either by the notice of the meeting or by a motion from the floor.

IV. How To Make A Motion:

1. Obtain the floor by being recognized by the chair.
2. State clearly and concisely your motion in preferably positive form and not in negativity i.e., "I move that we ---" and not "I move that we do not---".
3. The Chair restates the motion and says "It is moved and seconded that we ---". Technically the motion becomes a "question".
4. The motion is the property of the assembly and you cannot change it without the consent of the assembly.
5. Explain and expand on your motion as the Chair requires you to do.
6. The chair opens the motion for the assembly to discuss and debate.
7. Mover of the motion is the last speaker to answer any questions or present any clarifications necessary.
8. Putting the question. The Chair asks "Are you ready for the question?" If there are no more speakers, a vote is taken.
9. The voting is according to the By-Laws of GNFA.
10. Motion to refer to a committee may be a main or subsidiary motion.
11. A motion to table a motion is a subsidiary motion that can be subsequently revised by a simple majority.
12. A motion to postpone indefinitely is a subsidiary motion that can be subsequently revised by a simple majority.

V. Suggestions:

1. Make motions that are in order.
2. Obtain the floor properly.
3. Speak clearly and concisely.
4. Obey the rules of debate.
5. Most of all, be courteous. That is always in ORDER.

VI. By Way Of Emphasis:

1. Motions that can interrupt a speaker are:
A call for the orders of the day. A point of order. A question of privilege. A question of quorum.
2. For the following categories of motions, guidelines can be obtained from the book Robert's Rules of Order.
 - a) Motions that cannot interrupt a speaker without his/her consent but may interrupt the proceedings.

- b) Motions that do not require a second i.e. point of order.
- c) Motions that cannot be amended i.e. Adjourn.
- d) Motion that cannot be debated i.e. Adjourn.
- e) Motions requiring a two-thirds vote. These are defined in the By-Laws of the GNFA. In instances where there is no clear definition in the By-Laws then Robert's Rules can give a clear guideline.

VII. Voting Methods:

These are defined in the By-Laws of the GNFA.

VIII. Know your Constitution and the By-Laws. If any rules or order are not clear reference may be made to the latest available edition of the Roberts Rules of Order.
